This is my code so far (with the result set as System.out.println()) String sql = "select p.name from Path p"; ResultSet result = mySql(Connection.query(sql); while (result.next()) { //System.out.println(result.getString("name")); System.out.println(result.getString("name")); } name It doesn't work and I don't know how to do it. A: Do it as follows: SELECT * FROM `path`; And then read the results in a while loop. NOTE: Make sure you escape the SQL query properly - escape all quotes using " and not 'and use proper parameter substitution. You may want to use some kind of JDBC library instead of using raw SQL. 1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to the use of a refractory material as a lithium collector in the electrochemical reduction of lithium. 2. Description of the Related Art It is well known that the electrochemical (galvanic) reduction of alkali metals is possible in electrolyte solutions of alkali metal salts. Of these salts, potassium chloride is a good electrolyte for the electrochemical reduction of lithium. The use of potassium chloride electrolyte solution in a secondary lithium cell gave rise to a major problem because, under recharge, a slow and irreversible degradation of the anode, called "anode poisoning", occurs. This degradation is attributed to the formation of lithium chloride-containing potassium salts on the surface of the anode. When the quantity of lithium chloride exceeds a 3da54e8ca3
