I have a dataframe that looks like this: ID Val 1 A 1 B 1 C 2 C 2 B 3 B 3 B 4 C 4 A 4 C I want to use pandas in a way such that I add the values of the column 'Val' where the ID's match. So my end result will look like this: ID Val 1 A 1 B 1 C 2 C 2 B 3 B 3 B 4 B 4 C 4 A 5 C Is there a really easy way to do this? A: Use GroupBy.sum: `df['Val'] = df.groupby('ID')['Val'].transform('sum')` print (df) ID Val 0 1 A 1 1 B 2 1 C 3 2 C 4 2 B 5 3 B 6 3 B 7 4 B 8 4 C 9 4 A 10 5 C

Q: Solutions to $w \log(w) = 0.5 \log(w) - c$. Solutions to $w \log(w) = 0.5 \log(w) - c$. What are the solutions to the above equation? What I did: Define $\omega = e^w$ and we get $w \log(w) = 0.5 \log(\omega) - c$. Since ω is the solution of $\log(\omega) = \frac{1}{2}$, we get $w = e^x$, where $x = \frac{1}{2} \ln(w) + c$. But x should be a constant, what to do from here?

A: If x is a function, then $\frac{1}{2} \ln(w) + c = x$ implies $\ln(w) = 2x - c$ implies $w = e^{2x-c}$. If we instead assume that w is a constant, then $\ln(w) = 0.5 \ln(w) - c = 0.5x$. If $c = 0$, then it is just a constant w and you just need to solve for w . If $c \neq 0$, then $\begin{align*} w &= e^{\frac{1}{2}x} \end{align*}$

7 Tools For Video Capture Video Capture software has come a long way from the days of video capture through tape. The method by which video is recorded is simplified, with more choices on resolution and file types. However, in the interest of giving users a smoother recording, and to eliminate the possibility of cameras and USB cameras being recorded the same, cameras must no longer use old protocols. And as if that weren't enough, we're seeing more and more commercial applications for recording videos. Even home users are turning to the internet for storage and share, and more video is being shared via private networks, social networking sites and even with real-time communication. So, how do we capture all of these types of videos? There are plenty of video capturing software packages out there. Many are wonderful and might even be the best choice for you. However, there is one big downside to these free packages that most people don't know about. "If you want to capture things such as video or audio, you'll need to use a webcam," says Ray Duros, Editor in Chief at Camtasia.com. "Most webcams allow you to perform the basics that you'll need, however they won't record. Typically, if you want to record, you'll need to use a video capture card. These are plug-and-play items that are fully integrated with the operating system and cannot be used with camcorders or webcams." There are video capture cards on the market, but they are expensive. And although they cost a lot of money, they can also be the best choice for many. They record a fast stream of video, giving you the ability to record many clips in a small amount of time, and you can watch them as you would record a video from a camcorder. In addition, they are inexpensive and very easy to use. There are many programs that will automatically capture video from a web cam, but that is also quite expensive. For example, PhotoForge Pro 10 costs $350. There are plenty of programs that will capture video automatically, however most require you to buy a codec pack in order to use it. You may feel like you have too many programs that are recording to the exact same thing. How many video capturing software packages do you really need? There are a ton of programs that offer basic video capture. Many are completely free, but the few that cost money

A clinical and pharmacologic comparison of mianserin and mirtazapine in patients with major depression. One hundred seventeen patients with major depression were randomly assigned to double-blind treatment with mianserin (N = 56) or mirtazapine (N = 61) for 16 weeks. The doses were established to be equipotent. After a 4-week preinpatient phase, patients were admitted and treated with mianserin or mirtazapine in a double-blind manner for 16 weeks. The doses were adjusted weekly. A multiple regression analysis
