.Josephine (1861) Lavinia (1865) Maud (1866) Euphemia (1867) Judith (1868) and Theobald (1869) were all built at the Manchester shipyard of Laird Brothers, Oldham. The four sisters were the only children of William Wallis, a builder, and his wife Elizabeth, who was originally from Preston, Lancashire. William made his own tools, such as nuts, washers, etc., to help him build and construct his own ships. In 1856, at the age of 33, William married Elizabeth, who was 31. Elizabeth was his fourth wife, having married twice before. As children, the four sisters were always described as having been born on the same day, first week and year, meaning they were born in the same year in the same week of the year and same year. All but the eldest daughter were given naval ship names and Josephine was one of the largest ships made in the UK. In September 1914, Josephine and her sisters were sold for salvage. She was used to transport coal, cement and gas, but in 1917, she was driven ashore at Rowrah, County Mayo. Josephine was scrapped in 1918.

Perry Street Historic District is a national historic district located at Beaufort, South Carolina. It encompasses 37 contributing buildings in a predominantly residential section of Beaufort. The residences were built between 1892 and 1926 with the emphasis on Queen Anne and Colonial Revival styles. The district includes notable examples of Shingle Style and Colonial Revival style architecture. It was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1986.
