This is very faster than I was expecting. I also am really happy with the outcome. The design is really clean and polished. I'd imagine that people would be able to use this to make mockups of their fonts and logos. I'd love to use something like this in the future to help with a logo for a creative business I have. Cons: Unfortunately, I think the UI could be more intuitive and polished. Perhaps an example project and a tutorial would help people figure out how to create some of the things I've made so far. February 27, 2019 Steve H. Creative Strategist Studio Nine, Artist, Designer, Consultant Home Improvement This was super fast and easy! I love how many different ways you can make the project using shape layers and such. The resolution is good and it even offers up some fonts which I am pretty sure might not even exist if I tried to make one myself. Q: Error compiling webapp with old JDK/webserver? I'm developing a JSP/Servlet webapp using Java 5 / Tomcat 6.0.31. When trying to compile and run the app, I'm always seeing the error message: java.lang.NoClassDefFoundError: javax/servlet/ServletException I've created the webapp using the maven-wtp plugin and added this to my pom: javax.servlet.servlet-api 2.5

As a quick fix, you could download a version of the software and burn a CD or DVD to a different computer and run that. Another option is to try a system restore to a date prior to installing the software and running it. You can use third party tools to search for missing and corrupt files on your computer, but I am not familiar with any free options. See if any of these help. :) I've been working with women's health issues since 2006. After touring the state speaking with my dad, who was fighting cancer, I got involved in advocacy work, volunteering and eventually running as a state representative to push for better access to healthcare and education for women. I like to think I'm an expert in women's health issues, because I'm pretty comfortable talking about any topic related to women and pregnancy. I've conducted workshops for National Women's Health Day, a symposium for parents at the University of Toronto and as a fellow in the Office of Public Health and Health Promotion for the United States Department of Health and Human Services. I've also spoken in front of the Senate Standing Committee on Social Affairs, Science and Technology, to the Academy of Canadian Cinema and Television and at various conferences. I'm also the author of a book on miscarriage — the only book you'll ever need to know about the topic. I'd like to think that if you had a medical issue concerning pregnancy, you'd want me to be able to tell you what to do. I believe that if I can help one woman deal with her miscarriage, I've done my job. Canadians have the right to access all healthcare services they need. Yet it is almost impossible for many people to access abortion services — from caring practitioners or in their own time. doc515b9f4
