To download the map updates for your navigation system, you can use our Website map center or download the map updates by accessing your navigation systems web site. This process is explained in our previous post. We highly recommend that you regularly update your navigation map and display by connecting your navigation unit to your computer to download the latest map updates. The update process does not change the content of your map and does not create new content. Your navigation system features color Touch&Go Touring with onscreen active tips such as estimated travel time and guide to turns. The interface on your navigation unit is designed for use in front of you or in the passenger seat, making the navigation experience more intuitive and enhanced. The small size of the hardware is a plus, allowing for the unit to be easily placed on your dashboard When you're ready to search for a destination, your navigation system features voice-activated guidance with the option of including or excluding "virtual" destination options (destinations that have not been preprogrammed). The unit includes a filter feature to let you quickly find favorites. There are two connection options for the NAVTEQ CD-ROM. The first (housed in the upper right hand corner of the navigation system) features the same connectors as for the NAVTEQ CD-ROM. The second connection (housed in the lower right hand corner) features CD-R, or CD-ROM Removable Interface, the same as is found in most electronic devices. These two connection types are identical in their use and function. 5ec8ef588b
