Annual triathlon offers fresh start for 'one last time' Volunteers are busy with last minute preparations for today's cycling marathon. The route is for the most part flat and scenic, with the intention of easing runners through to the end, as opposed to attempting to compete with the cyclists in a fast, tough ride along the length of the Island. The event is open to runners and walkers of all ages, but is designed primarily for teams. Those interested in signing up to run should register for the 5km run, where the main point of interest will be the introduction of the new Bixi Jump bike, which is a new feature on the Island and will be seen in front of the start. Signing up for the 5km run is $10.00, or if the cyclists sign up for the ride, the run entry is included at no additional charge. For the competitors, the 22km bike ride has included a flat section through Greenfield Park, which offers a convenient turnaround point. On the return leg through Mills Plain, there are two climbs. The public will be allowed to watch the cycling and running from the official viewing area at the sports field. The team cycling event is, by definition, a team race, with the cyclists racing for one thing only — the first team to finish. 04aeff104c
